Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

According to federal regulations and University of Richmond (UR) policy, students must maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) to receive federal financial aid and institutional financial aid. Some private loan programs also require SAP. Evaluation of students' progress for financial aid purposes is made annually at the end of the spring term to determine financial aid eligibility for the following year (summer term, fall term, and spring term).

For details regarding your School’s SAP requirements, click on the appropriate link below:

Undergraduate Students in Arts & Sciences, Business, and Leadership Studies

School of Law

Graduate School of Business

School of Professional and Continuing Studies

20-Jun-13