

2019-20 Federal Direct Parent PLUS Loan Application

The University of Richmond participates in the Federal Direct PLUS Loan Program. The lender is the U.S. Department of Education. The PLUS Loan program is a non-need based loan made to parents of dependent undergraduate students. Parents may borrow an amount up to the Cost of Attendance less any other financial assistance. Parent PLUS loans currently have an interest rate of 7.08%. The federal government charges a loan origination fee of 4.248%. For academic year Direct PLUS loans, two equal disbursements are made—one at the beginning of each semester—through a direct credit to your student's account with the University of Richmond. For summer session and single term loans, one disbursement is made at the beginning of the term. Repayment begins 60 days after the full disbursement of the loan.
